NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Announcement that small business operators who normally have a personnel of not more than two employees, but who hire additional help during the Christmas season, will be liable and must contribute to the state unemployment compensation fund was made here by Chairman Charles S. Leasure of the Unemployment Compensation Commission. "Employment of a third worker makes the employer liable on all three workers for the entire calendar year," Chairman Leasure asserted. "The law says an employer subject to this act within any calendar year is subject to the act for the whole of the calendar year. With only two employees an employer is not liable, but if he hires a third worker, even for a day, he is liable and must make contributions to the fund based upon the wages paid to all of his workers during the entire year."

Prediction that the coming weeks will find the public indicating increased interest in the Northwest Territory celebration events was made by E. J. Milgren, secretary-director of the Northwest Territory Celebration Commission of Ohio. Special text books on the history of the territory, from which Ohio and five adjacent states were carved, have been issued by the commission to all Ohio schools for use as a reference in preparing manuscripts in a contest sponsored by the federal commission, Mr. Milgren said. In addition 250 Ohio libraries have arranged reference shelves and exhibits of literature of the period of the Ordinance of 1787, which created the territory. "The start on December 3 of the ox-drawn covered wagon caravan from Ipswich, Mass., enroute over the original pioneer trail to Marietta has brought about added interest in the coming sequel-centennial program," Mr. Milgren pointed out. "By the time the caravan arrives in Marietta, on April 7, Ohioans will be in a highly receptive mood for the program that is planned for the celebration."

A plea for the donation of high school text books for use by inmates at the London prison farm was made last week by Chaplain C. E. Shields who has charge of the educational classes at the institution. The high school work is being offered there for the first time, although elementary courses have been conducted for six years. "Because of the need resulting from the introduction of high school work I am appealing to the public and particularly to school officials of this state for any discarded text books which would help meet our needs," Chaplain Shields stated. The initial enrollment in the high school course was fifteen, but there is an immediate prospect of additional students. Equipment needed included an unabridged dictionary, a set of wall maps and a portable blackboard.

Premium lists for the thirtieth annual Ohio corn and grain show at Ohio State university will be available within a few days and may be obtained from county agricultural agents, vocational agriculture teachers or direct from the agronomy department at the university. It was announced by Paul P. Fragon, research agronomy assistant. The show will be conducted in Ives hall from January 24 to 28 and will feature wheat, oats, barley and soy beans in addition to corn. Trophies, merchandise and cash prizes will be awarded.

Sales tax collections for 1937 will probably show a decrease of approximately eleven per cent, according to State Treasurer Clarence H. Kulaity. The drop in revenue, he explained, will be due to the exemption of the tax on food. If the food tax had been continued the total for the year would have been about nine per cent more than the 1936 total, it was estimated. Comparative total collections for the two years up to the latter part of November were $42,472,000 in 1937, and $47,790,788 in 1936.

FAWCETT FAILS TO CONNECT

The annual convention of the Ohio State Treasurer's Association was held in Columbus, Tuesday. Harold J. Fawcett, Greene county deputy treasurer, was defeated for re-election as secretary in a stormy session when officers were not advanced as has been the custom. Only two former officers were advanced or re-elected due to internal politics in the organization.

Campaign For Christmas Seals Under Way

Up to date, returns for the Christmas seals has been encouraging, but the committee is hoping that some have just neglected sending money in, and have not ignored their letter entirely. Many may feel that one whole dollar is hard to part with, especially with all other holiday expenses; so if there are those who feel that way, perhaps a dime, quarter or half-dollar could be spared.

Each contribution, no matter how small, will add the organization in accomplishing its goal. Last year receipts totaled around one hundred dollars; the local committee, with the cooperation of the people of the township, hopes to swell the fund to two hundred dollars this year.

COLLEGE NEWS

"Thinkers and Thinkers" "Thinkers and Thinkers" was the title of a very interesting lecture by Mr. Samuel W. Grathwell, heard at a combined assembly of Cedarville College and Cedarville High School, Wednesday morning.

Mr. Grathwell, a forceful speaker, presented a fine discussion of what thinking really is and what it is not. His delightful humor and expressive diction made the lecture a real stimulus to clearer thinking.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. John L. Dorst, business manager of Cedarville College. They have been friends for several years.

The Cedarville College Mixed Cross under the direction of Mrs. Ward Cresswell will present "The Holy City" in the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, December 12.

C. C. Basketball The Cedarville College basketball season opened Saturday night, December 4th with a 30-24 victory over Y. M. C. A. of Springfield. Kenny McNeil led the Cedarville offense with eight points. The boys played rather rugged basketball but showed signs of possibilities. Eugene Kavanaugh, a freshman from Ross, played a very commendable game in his initiation into college basketball.

The Cedarville basketball team lost a 37-34 overtime battle on the Wilberforce floor Tuesday evening of this week. High scorer for the Cedarville boys was Everett Wiseman, graduate of Selma, who is a fine defensive man as well as a sharp shooter. McNeil played a very good defensive game and all the boys had that old Cedarville fighting spirit.

Tomorrow night the boys go to Oberlin for another tough battle.

Rev. Adams Addresses Students

Rev. Benj. Adams gave a very interesting talk at the chapel program Monday. He compared a piece of coal to a diamond and pointed out that the value lay in the fact that the one reflected the light that came to it. He urged everyone to live transparent lives and not selfishly absorb all the things that come along without passing goodness on to others.

Gospel Team

The College Gospel Team had charge of the worship service at the Bath Presbyterian Church. Sunday morning. Talks were given by Mary Johnston, Donald Foulke, and Rachel Cresswell on subjects pertaining to Christmas.

Mr. John L. Dorst, business manager, spent last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Cincinnati on college business.

Your State House And Mine

PAUL YODER, East. Governor

All I know is what I read in my mail.

"Another thing is this effort to get unemployment insurance payments up a year. Wake up and throw away your hatchets, and not a broad-axe."

This correspondence has for many years worked faithfully in a manufacturing plant, suffering the usual seasonal lay-offs and annual depression periods.

There is this to be said regarding the proposed benefits of unemployment insurance being paid a year in advance—it should not be in connection with a program for relief. Unemployment insurance was designed to be an aid for employed people who suffer seasonal lay-offs—not for those who are unemployed, sometimes referred to as "relief clients" who in the large are those whose years of usefulness to industry have passed and who are known in the language of the social worker as "unemployables."

Relief and Unemployment Insurance, therefore, are two very separate and distinct subjects. Reliable authorities tell me it would be impossible to put into operation in January the advanced payments to the eligible unemployed. The proponents of this idea do not deny that. We are therefore confronted with two facts—first, it is not a proper fund from which to pay relief as such; second, it is not possible to do so until just before the next primaries.

Actually, politics is a difference of opinion on vital issues. It would not please either you or me if we should have to concede that politics had degraded to the level of misleading political maneuvers. But, there isn't a selfish candidate for governor living who would not welcome the opportunity of paying some thousands of unemployed or unemployable people $15.00 a week just before AND NOT AFTER election. You and I witnessed a so-called humanitarian program of paying maximum benefits for old age pensions, for instance, just before election, only to have the glittering picture fall apart shortly thereafter. Old age pensions fall because they are only promises and not sound reasoning. It seems to me the same thing is true now.

When such political maneuvers succeed in confusing enough voters, virtual dictatorships are possible. There are two philosophies of politics: one that good government is good politics; and another, that a process of leading you to believe that someone is doing something for you that he is not is good politics. We have had too much of the latter already.

Soward, for the last 14 years superintendent and chief matron of the Greene County Children's Home, will relinquish their post about next March 1, and retire to a farm on the Lower Bethel Pike three miles from Xenia, the couple disclosed Saturday. Their joint resignation will be submitted later to the five-member board of trustees which supervises affairs of the institution, and which will appoint their successors.

Superintendent Soward, during his 14-year administration, witnessed the children's home population grow to an all-time peak of 104 about four years ago. A present the population is below average, totaling 60 boys and girls. Normally the institution can accommodate 65 in single beds.

Zero Weather Starts

Winter With Zest

While the first three days of December were mild and often spoken of as "ruling the winter," surprise zero weather hit this section early Tuesday morning. Fortunately snow covers the ground and will blanket most of the wheat in this section. According to the weather department in Columbus, Tuesday was the coldest day for December 7 since 1885.

The whole south is covered with freezing weather and frosts even to the Everglades in Florida. Strawberries and vegetables in Florida and sugar cane in Louisiana suffered damage that would also hit the citrus crop.

Farm Bureau Head Flays Congress In Agricultural Stand

WASHINGTON.—Failure of congress to follow proposals for strict agricultural control was flayed by President Edward A. O'Neal of the Farm Bureau, who charged the legislators with "mutilating" the proposed program.

O'Neal's wrath also was directed at Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for his recent letter to the senate criticizing the senate bill. Wallace, O'Neal said, "is apparently changing his position."

The farm bureau president's statement followed a whole week's fire on the legislation in both senate and house.

In the upper chamber, the attack was leveled principally by G. O. P. Senators Borah of Idaho, McNary of Oregon, Austin of Vermont, and Bridges of New Hampshire, although one Democrat, Senator Lee of Oklahoma, flayed the measure and proposed a substitute bill.

A fresh attack from the Democratic side was scheduled for today from Senator King of Utah, who calls the measure "a damn fool bill."

The house, meanwhile, was in recess until Monday after five days of debate and comparatively peaceful consideration of several minor amendments. The leadership successfully maneuvered around a showdown on a party-price amendment, sponsored by the Patman bloc, by obtaining an agreement to defer consideration until the first of next week.

Following the dinner the group was addressed by Representative E. B. Bangham, Clinton county, and district governor of Rotary. In company with a number of Rotarians Rep. His address was interesting and throughout he pointed the differences of many things observed as we have them in this country.

J. M. McDorman, Columbus pike, east of Cedarville, lost 68 head of lambs valued at $500 and Sheriff Henkel and is convinced the same people took the McDorman lambs.

Deputy Cecil Strobridge and Mr. McDorman made a trip to Kentucky Sunday thinking some clue might be picked up there.

PIONEER STORIES OF OHIO

BY GILBERT F. DODDS

FIRST SCHOOLS

The Marietta pioneers turned their attention to the education of their children very soon after their arrival in Ohio.

In the summer of 1789 Bathsheba Rouse, daughter of John Rouse, from New Bedford, Mass., taught a school in Belpre, and in Farmer's Castle.

The first teacher in the Marietta settlement was Daniel Mayo, a graduate of Harvard, who came from Boston in the fall of 1788, and during the winter months taught the larger boys and young women in Farmer's Castle.

In July, 1790, the directors of the Ohio Company appropriated one hundred and fifty dollars for the support of schools in the three settlements in the territory.

Before the first decade had passed, steps were taken to establish a regular academy at Marietta. A building was erected at a cost of $1,000, located on Front Street north of the Congregational church. Thus originated the Munkingum Academy, which was probably the first structure of the kind erected in the Northwest Territory.

Temperance Notes

Sponsored by

Cedarville W. C. T. U.

On September 23 the state of Tennessee voted dry in a statewide referendum with a majority of 67,688. The drys of that state are now planning for an attack on legalized beer.

Water vs. Alcohol

"Many years ago, when I was abroad, a fine supply of pure water had just been brought down from the mountains into one of the great cities in which I studied, and when I visited the city again ten years later I was told that the per capita consumption of alcoholic drinks had spontaneously been reduced 40 per cent; no one gave the fact any particular thought. In the old days, and to some extent perhaps even now, if one went into the Latin countries, one drank the common wine of the country because it was not safe to drink the water. In the Teutonic countries, for the same reason, beer was the common drink. England got its tea habit, and not a bad one, because boiling the impure water sterilized it. Hot milk has always been served a great deal abroad. Americans have thought it was because Europeans like hot milk, but perhaps it has been an unconscious resort to boiling milk to make it safe for human consumption.

"One can well see why the people from the Mediterranean countries especially, who never had used water to drink, and many of whom had not applied it to the body externally, on coming to this country felt that they had been denied a necessity when wine was not available.

"Fortunately in our country a pure water supply is to be found generally and today the great cities abroad have an ample supply of pure drinking water. In London and Edinburgh and other large cities of Great Britain there is a generous supply of good water, and the saloons, called pubs or bars, are disappearing. Not long ago it was shown that 25,000 bars had been closed in Great Britain in a relatively short time for lack of profitable operation. The hours of opening the bars in England are from 10:00 to 12:00 in the morning, from 2:00 to 4:00 in the afternoon, and from 8:00 to 10:00 in the evening, and unlike America, the laws are observed. It is evident that what we ordinarily call the common man does not have the opportunity that he has had in the past to drink on the way to and from work. And it is a rather suggestive fact that the temperance movement in those big cities abroad with fine water supply is relatively much stronger than in the small communities that do not have pure water. In the old days, at home or abroad, if a man wanted a drink of water, he had no place to get it. He could not ask for it in the bars, and if he did, probably would be that used for washing glasses.

Back to Prohibition

America is drinking itself back to prohibition. Sentiment against women and minors drinking is stimulating a fourth temperance drive to make America dry. "The first great wave of sentiment against liquor started two centuries ago—before the American Revolution—and continued until the Civil War... The second temperance movement followed the Civil War and reached its peak in 1885. The third movement is dated 1900-1920, and ended with prohibition. A new one now looms."—The Challenge.

THE TOPIC FOR TODAY IS

NEW CORN

The good days of dollar corn are gone, but with yields per acre twice as great as last year and a good part of the new corn made up of water which will dry out later and not count for corn weight, the present price will bring in as many dollars per acre. Our grain dealer has been operating day and night for some two weeks. We are prepared to take in new corn in any quantity.

FLOCK OWNERS—Be careful in feeding new corn to laying flocks whether hen or pullets—it might easily upset them right in the present good egg season—use kiln dried corn either cracked or ground in mash feed and take no chances. WAYNE Supplement and K. D. Corn can't be beat.

Check up on your milk production. Cows coming in from good pasture need WAYNE Dairy Feed to keep up production.

PURINA EXPERIMENTAL FARM

Established in 1926, the 300-acre Purina Experimental Farm at Gray Summit, Missouri, is devoted entirely to the testing of feeds and feeding programs for livestock and poultry. Thousands of visitors come annually to see this farm. They find it an extremely practical experimental station, managed by farm-trained, college trained men, and devoted to developing, testing and improving feeds for livestock, poultry and small animals. Farmers and feed dealers have come to look at it as "America's feeding headquarters," the final and supreme testing ground with animals to determine what shall be included in high quality feeds.

Better Ways to Raise Calves
Ten years of research work on calf raising has developed a new and better way to raise dairy calves with quicker growth and greater freedom from scours. And it's less work, too, which is what every farmer is interested in. When three days old calves are taken from their dams, and after the first 28 days receive no milk at all. By this time they have learned to eat Calf Starters, a growing ration which adds 30 pounds to the growth of a calf in the first four months over the normal way of feeding. Evidence of the success of this heifers growing program are found in the farm records which show that Purina Holstein heifers freshen at 24 to 26 months, weighing more than 1120 pounds, and producing 9,840 pounds of milk during their first lactation period. The average farm heifer does not freshen until she is 28 to 30 months old, when her body weight is about 1,021 pounds. After coming into milk production, heifers on the Purina Experimental Farm become a part of the regular dairy herd at the milking unit.

Increase in Milk Production
By strict adherence to proper feeding and efficient management, the Purina grade Holstein herd which averaged 6800 pounds of milk and 280 pounds of butter per cow yearly, has brought up to more than 12,000 pounds of milk and 486 pounds of butter. Maximum milk production has been assured during the entire milking cycle, body weight has been kept up, and the physical condition of the entire herd improved by following the Purina dairy program.

Producing Profitable Beef
More than 200 steers are usually on feed at the farm. Under actual feed conditions, new ingredients and new formulas for profitable feeding are constantly tested. In one lot, steers receive home grain and one combination of protein supplement; in another lot, the same grain with different combination of supplements. Through comparison, the best feeding combination is determined. The object of all fattening experimentation is to devise methods of producing the most pounds of beef with the best finish in the shortest time and at the lowest cost.

Greater Gains, Larger Litters
Nearly three pigs more per litter than the average for the nation was the 1936 record of the hog department of the farm—one of the largest hog feeding experiments in America. In the farrowing unit, built to accommodate 100 sows and litters, the average litter is 8.7 pigs at weaning time... nearly three pigs more than the average hog raiser gets. The fattening unit of the hog division accommodates 240 mature fattening hogs on test rations. In order to keep a complete record of blood lines, the farm raises all their own experimental gilts and hogs. Condition, ancestry, and the previous handling of every hog on the farm is definitely known by a system of numbering on the ear. Any attendant can give the life history of every hog in the group. More than 10,000 hogs have passed through the pens since the farm was started. Experimental feeding with grains and supplements and all in one complete feeds is carried on continuously. Hogs raised for market average well over 200 pounds at 5½ to 6 months and Purina farm hogs consistently top the market.

Poultry Unit
Twice each month, 24 times each year, 1200 to 2000 baby chicks are hatched and put into the brooder house at the station. Careful sanitation, efficient management, and feeding rations that contain health-giving ingredients hold mortality losses down to four per cent or less.

Twenty pens of mature hens are kept on feeding test all the time, with duplicate rations fed pairs of pens. The experiments are continued over and over until results are conclusive. All the things hens need in a feed for maintaining good body condition, proper weight, and high egg production with high fertility and good hatchability are determined under actual farm conditions. When the needs are fully determined, the profit-making ingredients are included in Purina poultry feeds.

Ducks and Turkeys
Results of years of careful experimental work in starting and growing turkeys reached a climax when farm data showed that the turkey breeding flock established a record of 100.67 eggs per hen from January 11 to July 28. The laying rate during that time was over 50 per cent. From 1800 to 200 birds are raised and fattened for market here every year. In one test a complete breeding unit showed that through proper feeding and management a flock of 56 breeders can be depended upon to average Byrd gave six of his huskies to the army.

Low mortality, low cost of production, and quick gains have been the aims in experimental feeding of ducks. Six-pound ducks at six weeks of age, fully feathered, with 22 pounds of total is a regular occurrence at the Purina duck unit.

Dogs, Fences and Rabbits
Small animals come in for their part in experimentation, too. Dogs, fences and rabbits are constantly under observation at the farm in an effort to determine what feeding rations are the most economical and convenient for these animals. Eight successive generations of dogs have been raised on Purina Dog Chow. When Admiral Byrd made his last expedition to the South Pole his dogs were fed on Purina Dog Chow exclusively. 150 huskies were brought through 9 months of as severe cold and work as dogs have ever known. Out of appreciation to the dog feed manufacturers to whom he credited a great deal of the success of his trip, Admiral

The Purina Experimental Farm is visited each year by more than 10,000 feeders from the United States, Canada and foreign countries. The Experimental Farm is not designed as a show place, but is a practical workshop. The fine results secured can be duplicated by any farmer using the feeds and methods recommended by the Experimental Farm.

Prisoner of Love

Ronald Colman and Madeleine Carroll in "The Prisoner of Zenda," a David O. Selznick production released through United Artists.

Exciting romance and daring adventure will be brought to the Regent Theatre screen, in Springfield, Ohio, when "The Prisoner of Zenda" opens Thursday, December 9, for a six day engagement. Ronald Colman and Madeleine Carroll, the handsome couple pictured above have the starring roles.

The 24-karat story of "The Prisoner of Zenda" concerns a high-handed struggle between two men for romance and power, and a lovely blonde princess, a swashbuckling duke, who bonds with the political wind and a handsome young adventurer also enter into the plot. This exciting melodrama is further heightened by flashing sabre duels, sparkling uniforms on many physiques, death lurking in dark castle corners and flaming sequences of royal romance. Mary Astor, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Raymond Massey and David Niven head the impressive supporting cast. Sharing the same program will be the latest Edgar Bergen-Charley McCarthy comedy, entitled, "All American Drawback."

RADIO SET INSTALLED

Under a plan approved recently by the state conservation council the automobile of E. D. Strop, Green County game protector has been equipped with a short-wave police radio receiving set. The state highway patrol broadcasting stations in five Ohio cities will transmit complaints and instructions to Strop and other game protectors whose cars are being similarly equipped.

The Newark Journal some time ago said: "Put tear into the picture of every social and recreative activity of the American people, especially those of youth."

Announcing
TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

THE DE LUXE
85 HORSEPOWER

THE STANDARD
60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase; 85-horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Walnut-finished trim; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" black tires, white side-spalls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

STANDARD FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery; Mohair extra in "60"; Mahogany-finished trim; One tail light, sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around.

De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost.

With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Lesson for December 12
CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

LESSON TEXT—John 1:1-7; Revelation 21:1-7.

GOLDEN TEXT—Our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Heavenly Home.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Fellowship with Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Daily Fellowship with Christ and Christians.

Fellowship—the word is rich in meaning, even as it concerns the ordinary relationships of life. It speaks of the association of man with man in a common enterprise, a sharing of problems and of victories—a partnership. Such relationships are very real and helpful. They lead to friendships which bind the hearts of men together in noble purpose and in tender consideration.

It is, however, a long step forward when we add the prefix "Christian" to "fellowship." For by so doing we not only bring men into the most glorious partnership with each other but we do two other very important things: (1) we limit those eligible to this fellowship to those who are followers of the Lord Jesus Christ; and (2) we broaden the fellowship beyond the association of men with each other, and bring them into the circle with Christ. What a high and noble fellowship! Do you belong? Christ says, "I am the door; by me if any man enter in he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

Our Scripture selections for today are from two books of the Bible. Both speak of an eternal Christian fellowship but the first stresses its present expression in a life of holiness and the other its future of blessed communion.

I. Christian Fellowship—Now (I John 1:1-7).

The First Epistle of John presents fellowship with God as depending on three things "which form in their combination a very beautiful picture of truth . . . God is light (1:5), hence fellowship with God depends on our walking in the light. God is righteous (2:23), hence fellowship with God depends on our doing righteousness. God is love (4:7, 8), hence fellowship with God depends on our possessing and manifesting love" (James M. Gray).

Every clause and phrase of the passage before us is so full of spiritual truth that it is hard to get our full time but we must limit ourselves to pointing out one outstanding fact; namely, that Christian fellowship is made possible because we have a Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ. He it is who reveals the Father—the One in whom there is "no darkness at all" (1:5). If we follow him we must "walk in the light as he is in the light" (1:7). This allows for no dark corners, no crookedness in word or act, no backbiting nor evil speaking.

Let us open the hidden recesses of the heart to the light of God and put every evil thing under the "blood of Jesus Christ which cleanseth us from all sin" (1:7).

II. Christian Fellowship—for Eternity (Rev. 21:1-7).

Our present communion with God and with one another is most precious, but how often it is marred by sin and disturbed by the wickedness that surrounds us in the world. We look forward to that day when we who are the followers of Christ shall be delivered not only from the penalty and the power of sin, but also from its very presence.

There will be "a new heaven and a new earth" from which every evil thing has been taken away, in which all has been renewed in righteousness. Then will come the glorious consummation of all things when God shall come to "dwell with them and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them and be their God" (v. 3).

That communion shall never be disturbed by the failing of any tear. There will be no mourning, no crying, no pain (v. 4). Little wonder that these words have been the comfort of God's people in their darkest hours. They are not the futile words of human solace. They come from the eternal God.

Three questions have intrigued the curiosity of man: (1) Where did I come from? (2) Why am I here? and (3) where am I going? The Christian is the only one who has a satisfying solution for the problem of the origin of all things, "In the beginning God"; a reason for the existence of all things, "To me to live is Christ"; and a satisfactory consummation of all things, "And God himself shall be with them." It is a great thing to know Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord.

Much Expected Of Child's Parents

Working partnerships between parents and school teachers are very desirable in helping the child to get the most from his studies, according to Mrs. Mary E. Gerlaugh, home economics department, Ohio State University.

Mrs. Gerlaugh says that remarks made by parents without thinking, may cause a child to dislike school or to fear his teacher. Mothers or fathers who say, "The teacher will punish you if you do that at school," or "The other school children will not let you do that," are hindering their child's progress.

There also are some parents who dislike to have their children become independent of them and who want to button the child's coat when he starts to school although the child considers it is grown up and does not need such attentions. Permitting the child to develop self reliance, however, should not go so far as to refuse to answer his questions.

Parents have more opportunity to study their children than the teacher can devote to one child or to a few individuals, so Mrs. Gerlaugh advises mothers to talk with the teachers about any of their child's traits which might cause friction when he is in a group. The teacher also should be better acquainted at home.

One teacher is quoted by Mrs. Gerlaugh as saying that school work is designed to help build the child's character. Most of the schools are supported by taxes so their chief purpose should be to create useful citizens and should awaken an interest in the pupils to study the problems of daily life.

Mrs. Gerlaugh does not believe amusements, paid by Cedarville Federal Savings & Loan Assn.
